

West Old LaHonda is open for business!!!

There is nothing more common on this site than photos of West Old LaHonda. Easy to see why. Despite being a high gravity day, despite being the first morning that felt really cold, despite just Kevin (pilot) out there with me, it was a great morning to be on a bike. Nothing fast, heavy breathing due to the cold air, but the wind and cold combined to give incredible views and remind us that, well, there's no place like home.