

Nice & cold... but nice

Today was the first "normal" Tuesday or Thursday for me since the end of December. It's been that long since I've done the full Tuesday/Thursday morning ride (including the West Old LaHonda loop) and ridden to & from work. Nothing fast this morning; way too cold for that. Strava says average temp was 37, with a low of 34, so pretty consistent. But it was clear, the roads were mostly dry, and I had both Kevins for company.