

Last Tuesday was kinda cold!

Better late than never? A long week including some travel so finally getting around to Tuesday's solo chilly ride. Kevin had been having a bunch of seizures so didn't feel up to getting out on a bike, and the other Kevin is on crutches! I did take it pretty easy through the corner I broke my pelvis last February, even though no chance of ice.

Nothing fast, just some pleasant miles on a bike.