

How many rabbits?

Two days to go, no stress, never mind all the things that still need to get done, like getting out emails letting people know we'll be closed a couple of Mondays this month (the 12th & 19th). But this morning we rode, and Kevin felt OK enough to ride his real bike, not his ebike. Nothing fast, but it went well. Nice & clear until we headed west on 84 to West Old LaHonda, where fog and drizzle made a bit of a mess of the road (and our bikes) but protected the rabbits from the eyes of Hawks, so they were out in force today.
